Do you have any additional comments to make?

All the staff have worked really hard to make my child feel at ease when she first enters the nursery setting from giving her cuddles, to reading stories and helping to eliminate the screaming we were having! Thank you so much for your persistence and for uploading the happy pictures on Tapestry to put my mind at ease.

The only suggestion I can think of is during messy activities the children are encouraged to wear painting overalls to limit how dirty they get. Also is there a uniform for when they are preschool age to get them use to school?
